

If the events of September 11, 2001, have proven I'm watching the National [Footing, it's that the terrorists ball] Championship ack us, but they can't say what makes us ball] an - our freedom, game, not because I have ry, our civil money on it, not because the No, only deed to my house could be lost if I y don't make the over, but for the love John of the game. So I'm watching it, and at t halftime I usually enjoy the show, the kids put on a great show. They work all year for it, and a young popstar Ashlee Simpson performed. Uh...and I think she had a tough time

Obviously her father has done a great job with her. I think under very difficult circumstances, he's made her a good law abiding citizen. Uh...unfortunately she can't sing. And uh...the Orange Bowl seats 70,000 people. You have to understand these are football fans, they applaud when people get hurt. So that's the kind of singing that was done at the Orange Bowl. And whatever money I won on People the game, I believe should go to always say, when some sort of relief did you realize you fund. were funny? And I think it's not that you realize you were funny. It's that you're brain works in a certain way. And I don't think that that's - I think in some respects it's uncontrollable, and you can either accept it and deal with it and hone it or you can try to fight it.
